

New Locker Capital Management Recruits

Locker Capital Management Graduates Twelve New Private Equity Wealth Managers.

Locker Capital Management's Luxembourg Training Academy announces the graduation of twelve (12) new certified wealth managers.

Locker Capital Management's newest recruits have completed our in-house training at our Luxembourg European based Academy for new private equity wealth managers.

All recruits come to us with graduate degrees in business, finance and economics.

Our recruits are not just certified in traditional Locker Capital Management investment products, but also receive a complete in-depth exposure to our propriety Alternative Investment offerings and strategies. Our Alternative Investment products are structured to targeted "non-correlative" market opportunities that require complex understanding for the benefit of our customers from REITs, litigation-Funding, bank originated Convertible Private Debt to Collectables.

Special manager training will also emphasize new structures that we have incorporated into our Real-estate Private Investment Trusts.

The Locker Capital Training Academy continues installing strong and effective leadership skills as well as advanced market research capabilities in every recruit.

The firm also focuses on continuing education after graduation as well as senior advisor mentoring, thus developing the next generation of the firm's private equity managers. Since half the firm is under 40 years old, Locker Capital Management leverages these tech-savvy professionals to fully engage in technology and social media. As a result of the in-house training and mentoring program, Locker ensures the continuity of the business and smooth transitions over time, as well as a cadre of professionals who can tap the next generation to develop and grow new business.

The result of Locker's fine Academy Training is to make sure every Private Equity Manager is engaged in a tailor-made strategy to fit each client's life plan as managed by an experienced and knowledgeable advisor who is backed by a professional network of some of the most respected experts in the investment industry.
